THOUGHT and COMMENT

THE TELEPHONE OPERATOR
(Number please. I am ringing them. I will try again. They do not answer.)

That, as far as you and I know over the telephone is,
the extent of the vocabulary of the telephone operator. BUT if a story we heard yesterday is true
then they must have a vocabulary that will exceed any on record. But maybe the telephone operator, like the newspaper reporter, is the proud possessor of a good forgettery. Now for the story.

It seems that a certain attorney of Richmond has won fame far and wide for his impatience while attempting to get super-speed out of central.
Maybe an attorney can be excused for a burst of temper
on an occasion like that especially when he is in the midst of a long case. Anyway, he that's it may.

Yesterday the young son of this attorney and the son of a doctor of the city were playing they decided that they were going to play telephone and a few tin cans and a piece of string were brought into play.

A few moments later this conversation was heard.
LAWYER'S SON—Hello Central, hello, hello.
PAUSE.

L. S.: Central, central. Say why in—don't you answer this telephone?

And ever since we heard the story which is yours, as the truth by none other than the mother of the doctor's boy, we have been trying to be nice to central.

INGRESS AND EGRESS

Richmond is about to note another important step in its progress. For months work has been going on for the paving of Macdonald avenue from Twenty-third street to San Pablo avenue. In a short time the street will be opened and a direct route will be opened from the downtown section to San Pablo. This without question is going to be appreciated
by many. Although the route from the south by way of Cutting Boulevard and Pullman avenue is probably the shortest,
it is slightly confusing to the uninitiated and the Macdonald avenue route will take the preference.

In some respects this will also give Richmond a route from the north. Serious thought might well be given a more direct from the north. The maze of streets which must be followed in coming into the city from that side is not only confusing, but discouraging to anyone who is attempting to find the downtown section, and is not familiar with the city. A great deal of the territory that would be traversed with a connecting link of this nature is not built up at the present time. In a few years that section will be built up and the cost of a right of way will be almost prohibitive. When the Panhandle boulevard becomes a certainty Richmond will have adequate highways and connections with Oakland and the south, but what about the north?

A marriage license was issued at Martinez yesterday to George

CONTROVERSY AROUSSED OVER USE OF FUNDS

Attempt Is Being Made to Have

Alleged Misuse of Road Funds
Is Cause of Attempted Recall of Officials

AUSTIN, Nov. 21.—Governor
Miriam Ferguson may be compelled to fight to retain her office.

An attempt will be made, it became known tonight, to call a special session of the legislature to investigate expenditures of road funds. Once in a session
there is no telling what a Texas Legislature will do. Governor
"Jim" Ferguson, husband of the present governor was impeached
by such a legislature some years ago.

T. K. Irwin of the first district, Dallas, announced today that he has sent out a petition for a meeting of the legislature for the purpose of impeaching any state official connected with expenditure of highway funds. Whether this could be regarded as including the governor, is a matter of conjecture.

Queen Mother Rites To Be Held At Westminster

(By Universal Service)

SANDRINGHAM, England, Nov.
21.—The remains of Dowager
Queen Alexandra, who died here yesterday afternoon, were today placed in a wooden coffin, made from a tree grown on her estate
following a simple religious ceremony at noon in the room where she breathed her last. King George Queen Mary and the Duke of York and other members of the royal family were present.

Tolling bells and lowering of flags to half mast today testified
the feeling of the general populace. After a private service on Thursday, the remains of the late Queen Mother, will be taken to the railway station to be taken to London followed by a procession of 8,000 mourners.

Arriving in London the body will be taken to St. James Palace. Funeral services will be held in Westminster Abbey Friday attended by leaders of state and foreign powers. Burial will take place at Windsor Friday.

It tentatively has been decided the body shall lie in state in the "saloon" of her palace during the early part of the week with residents of the country, both rich and poor will be enabled to pay their last tribute to the august dead.

Holy Communion At St. Edmunds

in the St. Edmund's Episcopal church on last Friday in honor of St. Edmund. This day has been especially set aside by the church to honor the memory of St. Edmund. Rev. H. L. Oberholtzer presided.

TWO WOMEN ARE DEAD

Entire City is an Armed Camp
Looking for Man Who Terrorized Entire Population

(By Universal Service)

TOLEDO, Nov. 21.—Toledo became an armed camp tonight in an effort to capture the maniac
club wielder, who has attacked ten women within the past few nights.

Two women beaten within an hour of their lives went to their victim tonight.

One of them Miss Bernice Braught, 18, is in the Mercy hospital in a critical condition.
His tenth victim, an older woman, has not been identified.

Two of the maniac victims are
dead.

The entire city is terror stricken, and police at the request of merchants, are trying to suppress reports of the fiend's activities. Local officials refused to report the facts merely stating that some woman has met with an accident.

The killer, attacked Miss Braught
tonight, while thousands of ex-soldiers, police and firemen were patrolling the streets.
They are searching for a large man with almost superhuman strength. Large irregular teeth, whose face is believed to be painted red with dark circles
under the eyes.

This identification was given
police by several of his victims, who obtained glimpses of his face as he fled after bringing his club down on the heads of his victims.

Together and Paraded in Damascus as Example

In an effort to make a public example of the Syrian natives who have been resisting the French authority, about 100 captives were roped together and then paraded through the streets of Damascus. They were taken to the citadel where they were held to await trial.

EAGLES GO TO PITTSBURG TO ATTEND MEET

A large body of members of Point Richmond Aerie, Fraternal
Order of Eagles, journeyed to Pittsburg last night to attend the Contra Costa County council meeting. The local lodge also took a number of candidates to be initiated at the ceremonies.

Starting with a parade through Pittsburg streets the Eagles opened what was one of the largest meetings in that city for many months. Aerie No. 5 of San Francisco sent its drill team to put on the work and its band was also in attendance as were the bands
from Livermore, Oakland, Fruit-vale and Hayward Aeries. Drum corps from Crockett, Pinole and Hayward were also in the parade
which was led by Sheriff R. R.
Veale as grand Marshal.

Rex Goodcell, of Los Angeles,
past grand president of the Eagles of California was the speaker at the banquet which followed the session and others on the program included Past President Kelly and State Secretary Gus Pohlen.
Ample facilities for handling the overnight guests were made at Pittsburg and many Eagles pre-tournament must be turned in not later than Thursday noon to one of the members of the committee, composed of E. Crane and Fred Caudle.

Ed Huyck of the Rust Campbell company has promised to provide the balls for the winners in the semi-finals and finals in the tournament. This is another inducement to the merchants, who are turning out for the tournament.

Chambers Want Trademark on County Goods

MARTINEZ, Nov. 21.—Products grown or manufactured in Contra Costa county will hereafter bear
the Associated Chambers of Commerce or the county are of any avail.

At the meeting of the chambers
in Danville last night, Milton Vanderleeve, of Walnut Creek, spoke on the subject, stating that at present many other sections of the state are getting credit for producing Contra Costa products, especially the walnut crop shipment, which goes to southern California, where it is labeled as being grown there.

Roy Watkins, city manager of Pittsburg, was also one of the speakers at the meeting, talking on a successful chamber of commerce secretary and his qualifications.

Roy V. Davis, of Antioch, and of the East Contra Costa chamber of commerce, presided over the meeting. Secretaries and officers of chambers all over the county were present.

YOU CAN PUT IT IN YOUR PIE

SAN FRANCISCO Nov. 21.—Prohibition Administrator New M.
Green is the "victim" of the highest tokens of esteem and thanks
these days from the proprietors of cafes, hotels, groceries, bakers and other more or less culinary establishments.

And why not? Didn't an ultimatum
come from Green today
that no restrictions will be placed on the use of brandies for flavorings for Thanksgiving mince pies, plum puddings, sauces and such things?

Green also made an ultimatum
that if a quart of brandy is baked inside a pie crust the baker will be summarily taken into custody.

BRUIN SWEEPED FROM PATH OF CARDINAL FORCES AT OUTSET OF WESTERN GRID CLASSIC

ERNIE NEVERS, TUT IMLAY, CAPTAINS
OF CONTESTING ELEVEN, PLAY
LAST COLLEGE GAME

There was a hot time in the old town last night.

Sweeping all obstacles from its path in its fury in the first period of a great game and the holding and fighting with all its might in the final moments, the red and white host of Stanford University triumphed over the blue and gold of California in the "big game" at Palo Alto yesterday afternoon. Final score, 26 to 14.

Twice in the first quarter, once in the second and once in the third did Coach Pop Warner's tribe swarm over the Bear stronghold, giving all Cardinal rooters just cause to paint the mission city at Palo Alto a bright vermillion.

Trying desperately to battle back to victory, the Bruin forces forged across the Stanford line twice in the last half. Then again they carried the ball to the Card's two yard line, only to have it plucked from them on downs.

Both Ernie Nevers, the hero of Stanford, and Tut Imlay, no less a hero for California, stayed in the conflict—their last in college life—for the entire hour of play. Nevers proved himself conclusively to be a great football player, perhaps the greatest ever developed on the coast.

Stanford got into position to score the first time by a so-called break, when Mitchell recovered a fumble in the first quarter and Murphy plunged across the intervening space of 12 yards to a touchdown.

The second chance was not by luck in any sense. Plunging and bucking from their own 21 yard line, Stanford plunged across for the score. California obtained her first chance to strike effectively in the third quarter but the red and white line held, casting that chance aside.

Entering and playing the game with a determination to triumph for the first time in twenty years with no regard for life and limb, the Stanford Cardinals outplayed California in every department during most of the battle.

FIRST QUARTER

Stanford wins the toss;
Couper kicking off for California. The ball goes out of bounds.
Couper kicks to Mitchell, who refor two yards. Nevers kicks to Imlay, fifty yards; Perrin goes through right end for no gain;

Mitchell recovers a fumble for Stanford on California's 29 yard line. Nevers goes through right

a touchdown going through right end; Murphy falls to convert own goal line to Imlay, who re-kicks off for California over the goal line. Stanford taking the ball on its 20 yard line; both teams are taking time out; Nevers went 8 yards through left placed Couper for California;

ARMS PARLEY IN JAPAN

Japan, it appears, would like to have the next arms parley. Japanese newspapers have been urging it lately, and the Japanese government is said to be interested. There is no evident reason why America should oppose such a project.

It is accepted as a matter of course that there will be a new gathering of the powers before long, if the Locarno security treaties are ratified according to program. But the European powers, especially France, are frankly opposed to another such conference in Washington. They rather grudge this country the credit of the last one, because of its continued absence from their counsels. They prefer to hold disarmament conferences at Geneva and let the League of Nations have the credit. But they might not oppose a conference in Japan.

As far as America is concerned, it might be a fine stroke of diplomacy, promoting friendly relations with Japan, reassuring everybody about peace in the Pacific and deftly avoiding complications with Geneva.

The Japan Advertiser makes an observation that should interest Americans. If there is any lingering belief in foreign minds, says the Advertiser, that Japan is a militaristic power, a disarmament conference in Tokyo would dispel that belief.

It would be worth while to see Japan prove her good faith as America did at the Washington conference three years ago.

ON TAX PUBLICITY

It has now become apparent that there will be a hard fight in the coming session of congress to repeal the publicity section of the revenue law which reveals the amount of money which the individual turns over to the government in payment of his income taxes. Representatives in favor of this action believe that the repeal will pass the house but are not so sanguine about the Senate, although the publicity advocates are said to not be so strong in the upper house, as formerly.

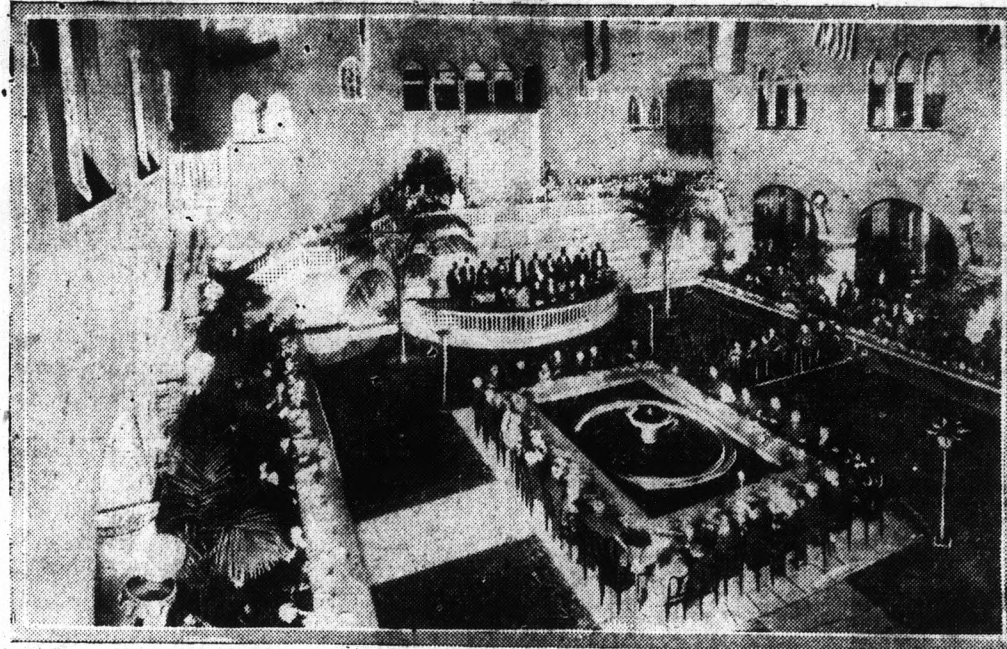

Those who favor the repeal say that no good has been accomplished by the publicity. It has added to the cost of the operation of the law, because more records must be made, and has not, so far as can be learned, uncovered any sequestered taxes. Its only effect, they declare, is to give curious neighbors the opportunity of finding out how much people next door pay to the government, although it is pointed out, this is no measure of the financial standing of the taxpayer.

The automobile men, amusement promoters, many others are straining every effort to have the excise taxes repealed, and are bringing many arguments in support of their contentions. Just what will be done with these taxes is purely a matter of conjuncture, although tremendous pressure is being brought by the automobile interests to bring about the repeal of the automobile sales tax.

Democratic leaders will advocate the extension of the period for paying the American national debt to sixty-two years, the same period which is being provided for the foreign debts to the United States. Under the present Treasury plan the American war debt will be retired in twenty-five years.

"Why has the coast no national parks?" indignantly demands an easterner. Apparently because the coast hasn't had the gumption to go after them and get them.

World Leaders Unite At Simple Meal To Promote World Fellowship of Golden Rule

International Golden Rule Dinner at Stockholm

RELIGIOUS leaders, representing 37 different communions, and philanthropists and statesmen from 31 different countries recently joined together at a dinner in Stockholm that was unique in world history. Headed by Charles V. Vickrey, of New York, general secretary of the Near East Relief and president of the International Near East Association, they gathered in the banquet hall of the Grand Hotel, one of the most elaborate in Europe, and ate the simple four cent meal of a Near East Relief orphanage over which they formed plans for the observance of International Golden Rule Sunday on December 6th.

Sounding the keynote of the affair, Mr. Vickrey in his address of welcome to the diners who came as guests of the International association, pointed out that the Golden Rule was the only basis upon which so many divergent racial and religious groups could unite upon. "It makes no difference where we were born or what our faith we profess, the Golden Rule offers a common meeting ground," he said. "There was never a greater lesson taught than that of the Golden Rule. It is the common denominator of all regions, a universal creed. Differences in faith may keep us from each other's communion table, but we can all gather about this simple fare tonight and derive tremendous spiritual benefit no matter what creed we profess. "The immediate beneficiaries of Golden Rule Sunday are the orphaned children of the Near East, international wards who are alive today only because of the charity of the outside world. They are a latent force that, rightly directed, will prove mightier than armies of the past. They are the potential leaders of a new Near East who may be depended upon to help solve the Near East question, which must be solved before there can be any World peace, on the basis of the Golden Rule."

-and the Worst Is Yet to Come

Plum Pudding Up To Date

In England, the plum pudding is such an institution that no winter holiday is complete without it, and it is certainly a most acceptable finishing touch to a holiday dinner. But alas, mixing a plum pudding is complicated, and its cooking takes from five to twenty-five hours. When the same fire that heated the house did the cooking, plum pudding was not so great an extravagance of time, money and labor, but, today, few housewives think it practical or pleasant to make. Fortunately we can keep the tradition by buying our pudding in the can, ready to heat and add hard sauce.

SMART FALL AND WINTER MODES

A sports frock of Balbriggan is quite the smartest thing that one could have for general wear, and there is no more typically Parisian way of developing it than is shown in the model to the left. The fronts are turned under to form an inverted plait effect, and a facing is added to either side of the V-shaped neck to form the revers. The sleeves may be worn long or short. Medium size requires 2 1/2 yards 54-inch material.

Satin, crepe de Chine, or faille may be used for the second model, which has shirred panels at the sides. The plaits on either side of the front are stitched part of the way. A French binding trims the round neck, while the sleeves are finished with turn-back cuffs. Medium size requires 4 1/2 yards 36-inch material.

First Model: Pictorial Review Printed Pattern No. 2751. Sizes, 14 to 18 years and 34 to 48 inches bust. Price, 45 cents.
Second Model: Pictorial Review Printed Pattern No. 2744. Sizes, 14 to 18 years and 34 to 44 inches bust. Price, 45 cents.

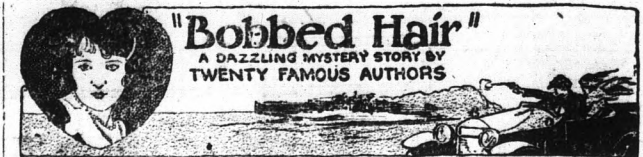

pour over the eggs. This must be served very hot.

Cream Cheese and Cucumber Sandwich: Spread slices of brown bread generously with cheese. Cover with thin slices of cucumber. Place brown bread over, and cut to the shape desired.

Apple Meringue: Peel and remove the cores from six equal-sized apples; stew them very gently in water. Do not let them break. Make a meringue by beating up the whites of six eggs until perfectly stiff and then gradually adding half a pound of sifted sugar. Carefully cover the apples with this, and put in oven to brown.

"Bobbed Hair"

A DAZZLING MYSTERY STORY BY TWENTY FAMOUS AUTHORS

Copyright 1924-25, P. F. Collier & Son Co. and G. P. Putnam's Sons
"BOBBED HAIR" with Marie Prevost is a picturization of this story by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Connemara Moore is aboard a mysterious yacht. It is past midnight and she is in the company of David Lacy, Pooch, McTish, Doc and Sweetie, none of whom she ever saw before tonight. Connemara and Sweetie have been drenched in the storm but have fashioned makeshift costumes to replace the dampened garments. Connemara had taken away from her aunt's Connecticut home, disguised as a nun, rather than announce her engagement, as Aunt Clemencia had expected her to do.

CHAPTER X—Continued

"So, that's it!" he exclaimed. "McTish must have installed it, and on my own boat; he has his nerve!" Then to Doc, "What have you been trying to do? Come, now, hand it out straight and cut out the trimmings."

"Do?" in a tone of puzzled innocence. "Nawthin"—just rolled over to keep me wings from goin' to sleep."

"And purely by accident found this button, I suppose."

"That's it, Cap," returned Doc airily. "I found it there and tried it to see what would happen."

"Of course, you couldn't by any chance have been signaling?"

"Signalin'! Far be it from me," the big man declared. "I did see some little flashes like, comin' from that there stick" (indicating the mast with a jerk of his head sideways) "but I didn't think they meant nothin'. Who'd I be signalin' to round here, hey?"

"Well, see you don't try to find some one," Lacy said grimly. "And get back to where you were before. Quick, now!"

"This is a movie, isn't it—in thirty-seven reels? That's why I wanted to know when it was to be released, so that I could see the results. I've never taken part in one before. And here we all are, Pooch and Doc, two perfect ducksies of villains, and Sweetie, the soubrette—ain't that what you'd call her, or am I going back to Aunt Clemencia's days? Then there are cars being stolen and spilled all over the landscape, and messages in cipher, and flashes from mastheads and motorboats popping up out of nowhere. I'm properly thrilled, and, besides, I'm the star, I suppose. And the salaries are true, too—I never believed 'em—but whew! fifty thousand a night!"

"As long as you're casting us, would you mind telling me my role?"

A moment she studied him, slightly to his discomfort. Then, "Let's see your profile—him."

"Is it as bad as that?"

"Yes, every bit—and you're the handsome juvenile"—he bowed—"or else one of those ridiculous sheiks." Here he did not bow, but instead answered, "And I'll play opposite you—on the other side of the bars."

"You mean?"

"I'll give you one guess. It ought to be easy, for you've been awfully lucky if you haven't looked through them before."

"Something actually thrilling then; how much more thrilling, when all the time I've been looking for the camera man!" She paused dramatically. "Oh, I get it; you're not the handsome juvenile—you're the director, and trying to put me in the spirit of my role" (she looked down). "But where are the puttees?"

"You are clever!" he returned, perhaps with not as much aplomb as he would have liked, "but you're too good for this game. Why don't you try something less desperate? With your talent you could go far on the stage."

"Farther than fifty thousand?" Connemara challenged him with a laugh. "Aren't you optimistic?"

"Say," remarked a voice just behind him, "it's tones a trifle shrill. I guess I wouldn't harp too much on that fifty thousand if I were you, Sister. Not in present company."

With a queer sense of shock, Connemara and Lacy spun about to behold the pert little figure of Sweetie, seated nonchalantly on the prostrate Pooch, her hands in her pockets, swaying to and fro, entirely unmoved by his protesting grunts and writhings.

"To think Sister'd tie the double cross on Poochie," she informed the night about them with an air of commiseration—that made her unwilling cushion writhe afresh. "An' him lying here all nicely roped up like he was doin' some Lon Chaney stunt. An' you gotta nerve too, Mr. Klassy Kleos" (this to Lacy) "tryin' to steal poor Poochie's skirt away from him, when he can't look out for himself." She paused a moment to illustrate her pity by digging her exaggerated French heels deep in the paunch of the prostrate Pooch, then addressed him, directly this time.

Under the prod of an impatient foot Doc was forced back to his old position forward, and Lacy, scowling, made his way aft.

"I didn't see the flashes," he explained to McTish, "but he must have been sending off something. Have you any idea of our bearings?"

"We're off Sea Cliff now," McTish replied, pointing abaft; "yon's Execution Light. An' this is the mou' o' Hempstead Harbor."

"We're not far from Bayville then," Lacy commented. "Now I'd suggest that we pull up anchor and head north, hugging the shore. I don't like the idea of your Swedish friend catching those signals."

The Scotchman's jaw fell in disgust. "Why, mon, that's what we want!" he exclaimed.

"Mac," the other returned, "I've a wholesome admiration for your caniness and fighting ability, but you told me yourself that 'The Swede' had a half-dozen bruisers aboard. We can't tackle them all. I hope Bob will succeed in locating them first."

"Weel, lad, I'm sorry if ye are afeared, but if ye'll just pick out one o' them—ye can pick on the safest—I'll tak' care o' the ither sax." In moments of excitement McTish became very Scotch indeed. He added, as if in mollification of his charge of cowardice, "But I see what's fashin' ye. It's the lassie."

"I suppose she's one of them," assented David gloomily. "But why should she have told me about the light in that case?"

"Because she's a smart-rt lassie an' able to put the wool over your eyes fine if ye gie her half a chance," McTish declared with conviction.

"No," David insisted. "She was surprised. As surprised as I was. She wasn't acting."

"Maybe," the little Scot said dryly. "But I'd not put it past her." "We're losing time," Lacy reminded him, ignoring this thrust.

Scientists say they've discovered an invisible ray that throws light on all creation, but we can't quite see it.

Music Loving Hebrideans Emigrate to Canada

The Hebrideans, like their famous Scottish cousins, are advancing. They are not advancing to war, however, nor is the music which lightens their task the bloody pibroch of war. Instead, the Hebrideans are filling in ever increasing numbers to the unfarmed regions of western Canada, there to make their homes, rear their families and to continue singing the songs which ever have been in their hearts and on their lips. No longer will they pursue a hazardous existence fighting the waves of the high and boisterous seas encircling their bleak, rocky islands, way off the northwest coast of Scotland, while their women sit at home singing the songs which so often turn into dirges for the men folk drowned at sea. The men of the Hebrides in Canada battle with the plow and the virgin soil. And Canada has welcomed them, as she has always welcomed the Scotch settlers.

The Hebrideans did not go to Canada, however, in any noticeable numbers until 1924, when famine and starvation practically forced many of them out of their country. In July and August, several hundreds arrived at Montreal on the Montcalm and Montclair, with their own pipers to pipe them lustily from the boat to the trains which were to take them out to Alberta, where Rev. Father MacDonnell had made arrangements for them. When they reached Red Deer, it was to find cottages made ready for them by the Scottish Immigrant Society, with fires burning cheerily, and the ladders well stocked. Here they are allowed to live for one or two years, until they have become accustomed to the new country and have decided where they wish to settle.

British Columbia has a scheme for establishing a Hebridean fishing village on the coast, and it has been suggested to form a similar fishing village in Nova Scotia. For, after all, the Hebrideans are sea folk, and feel more at home with sea noises in their ears. Their sea songs ring out better with the lapping waves on the shore for accompaniment. They must have music wherever they go. Their folk songs have been sung for generations, and there is hardly one who is not able to both improvise music and who has a gift of poetry which enables him to sing poetic words to accompany the lilt of the sea.

"REVELATION" OPENING AT THE RICHMOND

"Revelation," Metro's screen classic, which comes to the screen of the Richmond Theatre today, is without doubt one of the finest pictures of the season.

There are three reasons for this. First, Mabel Wagnall's story of the little Parisian model who won her soul back through the gentle influence of posing as the madonna, makes ideal screen material with its swift action and vivid romance.

Second, the picture has a wonderful all-star cast that includes Viola Dana, Monte Blue, Lew Cody, Marjorie Daw, Frank Currier, Edward Connelly, George S. Mann, Kathleen Key, Otto Matieson, Bruce Guerin, and Ethel Wales. Third, it shows the best direction in the career of George D. Baker. It's a masterpiece of screen art.

Other features on the same program included "Hall Roach's little rascals" "Our Gang" in their latest thrill comedy "Shootin' Injuns"; "Kinograms" world news events.

Star In Film Which Comes To California Beginning Monday

MARY PICKFORD in "LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY"

"LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY" HERE STARTING MON

"Little Annie Rooney," the comedy drama of tenement life in New York in which Mary Pickford stars, and which comes to the California theatre for two days starting tomorrow under a United Artists Corporation release, appears to have been written to order for "The World's Sweetheart" for it is an ideal Mary Pickford story.

Combining comedy and drama, smiles and tears, children's gang battles and a pretty love story, "Little Annie Rooney" is the type of play in which the public loves to see Mary Pickford and the type she can do as no other actress can.

"Little Annie Rooney" is as Irish as its name, and as Irish as the curly haired little ragamuffin who plays the title role. It deals with the young daughter of an East Side policeman whose playmates are about thirty young boys, and who enters into the gang fights and rows of these tenement kids with all the vigor at her command.

Unexpected tragedy stalks into the policeman's family, and the girl is suddenly faced with some of the grim realities of life that seldom come to a child of her age.

Through the gang battle sequences Miss Pickford romps gloriously, a leader of the dirty boys and the idol of her "gang."

In the dramatic scenes she does some of the finest and most convincing work of her whole screen career.

She is sweet and appealing as the sweetheart of her "Joe," and through the entire picture the artistry of Mary Pickford is again revealed.

While of the type of many of her best pictures, "Little Annie Rooney" has a new and strong plot, a carefully chosen cast of supporting players and is photographically beautiful throughout.

In fact there is nothing to be desired that is not provided in this, the latest vehicle of Miss Pickford.

It should prove her most popular screen play according to those

FUTURIST KIMONO DESIGNED BY MISS SWANSON FOR FILM

CHANCES are that no woman in the entire world exercises such an influence upon what other women wear, and how they wear it, as does Gloria Swanson.

Miss Swanson, who, in addition to being the reigning star of the motion picture firmament, enjoys the additional distinction of being a Marquis, a member of the French Academy and one of the ten most discussed women in the world, possesses that remarkable sixth sense—clothes instinct—which all women envy. She has the uncanny knack of taking the simplest creature and giving it some original twist which produces an effect so distinctive and smart that shortly after Miss Swanson displays it on the screen thousands of women are wearing it.

It is well known that Miss Swanson designs, or suggests, ideas for virtually all of the clothes she wears before the camera or in her private life. In making "The Coast of Folly," her latest Paramount starring photoplay, Miss Swanson created an unusually striking kimono. It was futuristic in design and color, and was most striking with Miss Swanson's type.

CHANNEL TO BE DREDGED

The government dredger "San Pablo" arrived at the Richmond outer harbor yesterday morning preparatory to starting the work of clearing the bars from the bay, for which the war department has allowed $16,500 of government funds.

The original depth of the channel was 24 feet, but it will be dredged to 25 feet in depth, requiring the removal of 300,000 cubic feet of silt. The cost of removing about 18,000 yards of silt will be carried by the city. The city council will open bids and may award the contract Monday night.

Mrs. Cora Wisser Funeral Tomorrow

Last rites will be said tomorrow afternoon for Mrs. Cora Wisser with services held from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel at 2:30. Rev. C. G. Lindemann will officiate. Interment will follow in the Sunset View Cemetery.

Mrs. Wisser was 61 years of age and had resided in this city for more than 20 years. She was a native of New York. She is survived by her husband William E. Wisser.

Attempts Suicide When Arrested

The poison was dashed from his hand by Deputy Sheriff J. M. Joseph before Sprague had swallowed enough to end his life.

Sprague, wanted in Santa Rosa on a bad check charge, was taken to Santa Rosa today by way of Martinez.

INTERESTING BILL SLATED AT CALIFORNIA

Another vaudeville bill replete with novelty, music, dancing, comedy and a trio of clever dogs comes to the California Theatre today, with Babe Dupree & Co. and Richmond's own dancing sensation "Baby" Eunice Healey as the outstanding features of the years most brilliant bill.

"Baby" Eunice Healey, the dainty little Richmond dancing sensation who has danced herself into the hearts of audiences in all the larger California cities comes to the California today to show her home town people the latest toe, ballet and Charleston steps, "Baby" Healey has been a sensation wherever she has appeared and should take the audiences at the California today by storm. She is a different "Baby" Healey than when you saw her last.

Crowdens Chums, billed as a supreme Novelty, includes Jack the Moving Picture Collie and are recognized as a trio of dogs who for sagacity and cleverness have few equals in Vaudeville. They do many stunts and finish with a little playlet full of interest.

A serenading Violinist by name La Fille entertains with a varied and pleasing repertoire of numbers that include Operatic as well as popular hits.

A dance Revue with the Royal Danes as the Principals is a topsy-turvy offering of Swedish Folk Dances and some Modern up to the minute whirlwind and ball-room efforts.

"Water Water Everywhere" with Walter and Mae Siegfried interpreting the several roles is a little domestic skit showing a young couple forced to leave their home and seek shelter in a boathouse. The lines are exceedingly humorous and there is not a dull moment while they are on the stage.

"A Trip to Harmonyland" with Babe Dupree and Co. of four supporting artists offers for approval of patrons some entrancing music, a few southern Coon melodies and a step or two of the latest dance craze. Pretty costumes and a stage setting rich and good to look at adds beauty to the offering.

ON THE SCREEN
For the first time in several years Blanche Sweet attempts light comedy on the screen in "The Sporting Venus."

Neilan has interpolated a host of amusing incidents and original touches in this whimsical story by Gerald Beaumont, with that breezy style which characterizes all his pictures.

Ronald Colman is as destructive as ever to feminine hearts in the lead opposite Miss Sweet and Lew Cody proves he is as good a comedian as he is a villain in a serio-comic role.

George Fawcett, Josephine Crowell, Edward Martindel, Kate Price, Hank Mann and others make up the supporting cast.

Other features on the same program include "Hot Feet," a roaring comedy; "Kinograms" world news-events; Carl Richard's California Orchestra; Larry Canelo, at the organ.

TALES about it were as numerous as its dark, broken windows. Oaks shadowed it thickly; winds sucked through its halls. The shutters sagged and were ivy-eaten—the windows giving in to an emptiness at once foreboding, dreadful.

Excitement ran agog when the place was bought. School children huddled to watch the rooms renovated. A sign swung out: "Stop her for tea." Lights sprang up. It became a frequent pleasure to drop in of evenings. In time, the towns-people loved the place. The inviting sign, the cleanliness, the light banished fear.

"We preach Christ Crucified." Public worship and Sunday school are held every Sunday morning in the chapel on Tenth street, near Barrett avenue. Pastor, Rev. J. L. Oberholzer. Address, 551 Twenty-first street, Elsie Reinacker, organist.

Sunday school begins promptly at 9 o'clock. The lesson topic for tomorrow in all departments except the primary, will be "Jesus Blesses Little Children." The Christian religion would not be complete did it not make provision also for the children; and in this the Christian religion differs from pagan religion and offers additional proof for its divine origin. The conversion of a child is attended by immeasurable blessings. Convert an adult at the age of sixty, and you save a soul plus ten years of service. But convert a child at ten, and you save a soul plus sixty years of service. Convert an adult and you save a unit; but convert a child, and you save an entire multiplication table. Has your child been brought to the Saviors?

The early service will begin at 10 o'clock. Public worship at 11 o'clock. "Be Ye Thankful" will be the keynote of worship in both services.

The Young People's Bible Class will meet on Wednesday evening at 7:45. Subject for discussion: "The Divine Origin of the Bible." The social part of the evening promises to be very attractive. Both program and refreshment committees are planning to offer something unusually good. Wm. Schaffer, Field Secretary of the Walther League for the Northern California district, will be on hand to address the Leaguers. The Lutheran Chapel bids friend and stranger a hearty welcome.

OURSELVES AND INDUSTRY

THE DIVISION OF LABOR
By E. E. Lincoln

If we tried to produce with our own labor alone all the things that we use every day we would find ourselves quite helpless.

It is hard to imagine what sort of house we would be living in if we had to construct it and all the materials that go into it wholly by our own efforts, or what sort of food and clothes we would have if we had to produce these things with no help from the rest of the world. Under such conditions we would be little better off than beasts.

Because of the desire for better living, men in past years came to follow different occupations—one became a carpenter, another a weaver, and still another a baker. After this specialization took place people had better houses, better cloth, and better bread, and they also got these things more cheaply and quickly than before.

In modern countries this process of the division of labor is carried still further. Perhaps the following well-known example will illustrate the point:

Adam Smith in his celebrated book, "The Wealth of Nations," first published about 150 years ago, gives an interesting example of the effectiveness of the division of labor in so simple a business as the making of ordinary brass pins. After showing that 10 people, each specializing in certain portions of the work, were able with only the crudest kind of machinery to make 48,000 pins a day he says:

"But if they had all wrought separately and independently, and without any of them having been educated to this particular business, they certainly could not each of them have made 20, perhaps not one pin in a day; that is, certainly, not the 240th, perhaps not the 480th part of what they are at present capable of performing in consequence of a proper division and combination of their different operations."

About 120 years later a survey was made by the United States Commissioner of Labor in which it was shown that further improvements in machinery in the manufacture of common pins, made possible through a better division of labor, had resulted in 90 times greater efficiency than the original hand method just described by Adam Smith. In other words, the division of labor and its results have finally enabled one worker to produce between 21,600 and 432,000 times as many pins as if he had continued to work alone.

This is a true case, and equally striking examples in other fields of industry might be mentioned. The division of labor made possible by the cooperative action of many people has resulted in such advantages as the following:

1. When a workman concentrates on a single operation he acquires greater skill than he would if he devoted only part of his time to it.

2. Moreover when one man did all the work on such an article as a shoe, for example, part of his tools were always idle, and he lost time in frequently changing from one set of tools to another. With the division of labor the modern factory this loss is eliminated.

3. Again, the division of labor makes it possible for different types of workers to obtain the kind of work that suits them best.

4. The greatest benefit, however, comes from the incalculable increase in all kinds of enjoyable goods that results from the specialization of work and the use of modern machinery. In fact, practically none of the important work of civilized society could be carried on without the division of labor.

These improvements have been of immense benefit to the worker. They have shortened the working day and have greatly bettered conditions. Also, a large amount of labor has been set free for the production of desirable things, of which otherwise we should have to deny ourselves.

As a result, the average man now enjoys many comforts and luxuries that even the wealthiest a generation ago were unable to obtain.

TRAGIC BROKEN CHAINS BETWEEN FAMILIES

Family Ties of Immigrants Here and Kin in Europe Often Break Through Ignorance.

MANY wives back in Europe awaiting word from their "man" in America, take silence and a returned letter to mean that he has cast them off. These sweethearts or wives think a new American wife has replaced them. Mrs. Elizabeth Hendee, just back from remote village homes in Central Europe from which the bulk of our immigration comes, came across many such unhappy incidents.

"The letter which comes back as the result of being incorrectly addressed has not been sent back by their husbands, as they believe, but from the Post Office as unclaimed," said Mrs. Hendee. "In case of a letter befalling a man here, who is there to write? His fellow workers and neighbors may be at as much of a loss as anyone else. When a man who has come on alone ahead of his family, drops out of sight, it leaves their native village to put such interpretation upon his silence as they can puzzle out. Deep in her heart the wife or sweetheart suspects unfaithfulness. How is she half across the world, handicapped and bewildered by language and ignorance, to search out the truth? That money under the workman's compensation act or employers' liability insurance may be due her, is another unknown factor in the case."

Communication between relatives across the sea, however, survive many handicaps. Letter writers ply their trade between those who neither read or write. "It is difficult for anyone to express intimate plans or the affairs of the heart

A letter from America is the sole link between these women and their husbands and sweethearts through the interpretation of a third person. Many mistakes arise. Not only must the wife or sweetheart laboriously dictate what they wish to say, but the precious communications must be read aloud to them." Mrs. Hendee was asked to try to locate many relatives upon her return to New York. The work done by the Y.W.C.A. for foreign born girls and women in America is carried on in Y.W.C.A. International Institutes in 49 cities. As the vocational secretary, Mrs. Hendee's own visitors seeking a means of livelihood range from those in humble ranks to stranded Russian women of title.

Only Chrysler Four Combines These Performance Abilities

The Chrysler Four's extraordinary performance—its direct and positive evidence of the highest quality in design, materials and craftsmanship—literally leaves no alternative in its field.

Today's market holds nothing of any type, approaching the Chrysler Four price range, which even remotely approximates its supreme combination of performance abilities.

In speed, the Chrysler Four gives you a new standard—58 miles an hour, achieved quickly and easily, not for a momentary spurt, but for eager mile after mile, as long as you like.

When you would dash away ahead of the crowd in traffic, the Chrysler Four whisks you from 5 to 25 miles in eight seconds—with sure-footed reliability and purring smoothness.

Yet, with all the super-power necessary for such speed and such swift pick-up, you can get 25 miles to the gallon.

Any one of these exceptional abilities would be sufficient evidence of value for any manufacturer except Chrysler: the three of them clinch the assurance of Chrysler Four's transcendent quality and worth.

We are eager to afford you the opportunity of proving the superiority of this favored Four. We ask you to ride in the car—drive it—see and feel for yourself, its speed, its swift response, its pliability of power, its smooth operation, and even more particularly, its riding steadiness and comfort. Then, we believe, you will inevitably share in the enthusiasm of its tens of thousands of owners.

GOLETT JURY IN DEADLOCK

After being in deliberation for over 36 hours, the jury in whose hands rests the fate of Edwin Reeves, Mrs. Percy Reeves, C. E. Peacock and Franklin P. Davis, each charged with grand larceny, on 12 counts in the Golett oil swindle case, was locked up late last night. To all appearance the jury is hopelessly deadlocked.

Judge Fred V. Wood ordered the jurors locked up for the night when he was told they had been unable to come to a decision.

The case of the four on trial, as put forth by Wilbur Pierce and Thomas Carlson of Richmond, defense attorneys, was that the defendants were themselves victims of James Gough, alleged leader of the Golett oil swindle.

NUMEROUS HILL RECORDS MADE BY STAR CARS

Four more steep hills have been added to the present long list of hills that have been conquered in high gear by the Star car, according to word sent out by the Durant Motor company of California.

These hills are located in the city of Ventura, California, and for years have remained a temptation to the motorist, who had a desire to boast of having gone to the top in high gear. Not until last week, when a Star made these climbs in high, had same ever been officially recorded.

Carrying three passengers and under the observation of H. W. Waddell, State Motor Patrol, the Star car made a clean sweep of these widely known hills which had always been stickers to motor owners in this section. The hills are Palm street, Kalorama street, road to the famous cross of Ventura and the equally famous road to Shell Hill No. 11 in the Ventura Oil fields.

"Today the Star car carries the name of being the hill climbing champion of 1925," said H. E. Brown of the Richmond Star Motor company, local dealers, in speaking of this new victory. "There are few hills of any note that have not been conquered either in high or low gear."

"The climbing ability of the Star is remarkable and few if any cars have been able to equal the performance of the Star million dollar motor."

$100,000 Asked In Damage Suit

CROCKETT, Nov. 21.—The Northern Pacific railway company was defendant in a damage suit brought in the superior court at Santa Rosa by Benjamin Gregory, former Crockett resident. One suit was brought by himself as administrator of the estate of his deceased wife, against the company for $80,000 damages and another as guardian of the estate of his daughter, Raisa Gregory, to receive $20,000 damages.

The actions are the result of an accident, which occurred at a crossing near Guerneville last June, when a Northern Pacific train crashed into Gregory's automobile, killing his wife, fracturing his skull, and inflicting permanent injuries on his daughter.

HUDSON ESSEX MAKING RECORD STATES STROM

"The public and automobile sales competition which have been literally electrified by the sensational values offered by Hudson-Essex will get a new thrill in the news that Hudson-Essex registration total for the month of October was far ahead of all other makes, excepting the Ford," says J. P. Strom, local dealer.

Hudson-Essex dealers made the foregoing comment yesterday in an interview of the "Motor Registration News" figures just released for last month.

"This discloses not only that Hudson-Essex team attained such a commanding sales position in the State, but also that Essex alone is far ahead of any other make of six-cylinder car, regardless of price."

"The Hudson-Essex strong appeal to the big crop of buyers today; the fact that this lightning-fast selling team has become a favorite in the field, crowding lesser values at higher prices to the rail; the fact that Hudson-Essex has the most gigantic merchandising program ever conceived—all these things are responsible for the clamor for these cars, which the public has set up on every hand."

"In view of the season—the eve of the winter months, when every one wants closed cars—the demand for Hudson-Essex coaches has become even greater, officials admit. This demand has been stimulated by the low terms, it is declared, terms which set the auto world agog when they first announced."

"As far as the low terms are concerned," explained "the answer to the public's question of 'How can they do it?' is just this: Hudson-Essex enjoys a gift edge resale value; the cars actually improve with use."

"The Hudson-Essex tremendous volume of sales here and everywhere is today one of the outstanding topics of conversation, wherever people gather—people in all walks of life. But there is no secret attached to this overwhelming successful campaign. The fundamental reason is the fact that Hudson-Essex forms the paramount value in the industry."

"Pioneers of the closed type of motor car, and particularly in the creation of the now universally popular coach type, the Hudson Motor Car company products now enjoy the happy position of outclassing and underpricing every other make of car, relatively speaking and value considered."

"We feel—and buyers and members of the trade agree with us—that the Hudson-Essex combination is the world's greatest all-around value at unmatched prices. And the great majority of buyers, knowing they are selecting a real favorite, are certain they cannot go wrong."

The old saying that "Nothing succeeds like success" is being quoted on auto row here in connection with the monster merchandising of Hudson-Essex cars throughout the community. It is agreed, that people in general are sold on the motor car in general; that what they now are specifically looking for is the highest quality at the lowest possible prices. That Hudson-Essex is providing what the public distinctly wants—the world's greatest value in transportation of class and comfort and distinction—is the widespread opinion."

A banquet was given Friday evening in the Stege Presbyterian church honoring the pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. H. K. Sanborn. A large number of the members of the congregation were on hand and an enjoyable evening was spent.

Powell Holds Formal Opening Of Restaurant

Formal opening of Lee L. Powell's lunch room and restaurant at 2213 Macdonald avenue took place last evening. With the opening of this eating place Richmond gets one of the most modern restaurants of its type in the Eastbay.

Huge banks of flowers were piled in the establishments, coming from hosts of friends and patrons who wish success to the new move of Mr. and Mrs. Powell. The Powells expressed appreciation to their friends for the encouragement offered.

Everything in the new location is new and modern. The counter is one of the most modern in style, with the backbar to serve as an excellent setting for the wares of the restaurant which have earned "Dad" Powell so much praise.

A complete new kitchen with steam tables has been installed, as well as other conveniences, making the kitchen one of the most up-to-date in the city.

EXCITEMENT IS OCCASIONED BY SHASTA ARREST

REDDING, Nov. 21.—On charge that he had slandered District Attorney Jesse W. Carter, Frank E. Green, deputy fish and game commissioner of Shasta county, was taken into custody by Deputy Constable Charles George, and the arrest nearly resulted in gun play.

Carter swore to a warrant charging Green with having repeatedly asserted that he, Carter, had received hush money from bootleggers, Green, whose arrest was ordered under the provisions of the penal code, having connection with slander, was released on $1000 bail, after two hours in jail.

George reported that when he served the warrant, Green reached for his gun. In the resulting struggle the officer held both wrists of his prisoner while he instructed a witness to remove Green's gun from his pocket. The by-stander declined and George had to do the job himself.

Both George and Green accused the other of using abusive language during the arrest and both denied its use by themselves.

Excitement over the incident is high over the entire Shasta county, as both Carter and Green have many friends here. The manner of the arrest no less than the charge have added to the general excitement in Redding.
